About Barbara

Barbara Wrigley is a Professional Certified Coach (PCC) credentialed by the International Coach Federation (ICF). She graduated from the Gestalt International Study Center's Coach Certification Program in 2017 and has over 1400 hours of coaching experience working with clients aged 26 - 78 from all over the United States.

Barbara received her Master's degree in Human Resource Development/Organization Development with honors at American University in 1985, and graduated summa cum laude with a B.A. in English, Social Studies and Education from Hope College in 1976. She has more than thirty years' experience in management, organization development, and adult education.

Additionally, Barbara has been doing personal growth work for over four decades, primarily through NTL Institute for the Applied Behavioral Sciences and at Shalom Mountain Retreat and Study Center in Livingston Manor, NY.

Prior to becoming a coach, Barbara was the Founding and Executive Director of the highly-respected Women's Business Center of Northern Virginia which provided training and assistance to minority and socially disadvantaged women seeking to start and grow their own businesses. During her 11 year tenure, the Center trained over 22,000 women, and helped launch thousands of small businesses. Barbara has won numerous awards and twice provided expert testimony to the U.S. House of Representatives on behalf of women entrepreneurs.

Now, she loves life coaching!
